Abstract:

This article provides information about the importance of teaching English through the use of literature and the methodology of teaching English.

Keywords: English language, teaching methodology, methodological preparation, educational system, listening, speech, speaking, literature.

Educating children who are mature in all aspects, have high potential, are loyal to the ideas of national independence, and at the same time, have thoroughly mastered modern knowledge, computer technology, and have a perfect command of a foreign language is one of the requirements of the current era. After all, today's youth are our tomorrow.[2] In this respect, today's teachers are required to have a great responsibility, it is a very difficult task to surprise or interest students in this rapidly developing era. Methodological training of English language teachers is especially important. In addition to having a good knowledge of science, only a teacher who has widely used the opportunities of information technology, which is widely introduced in education today, can achieve high results during his short career. to be informed, from the Internet, computer imTil is the main means of communication, without which it is difficult to imagine the existence and development of human society. [1]Today, at a time when there are great changes in social relations in our world, communication media (information technologies) require the improvement of students' communicative skills, they can exchange ideas in different situations during interaction with other participants of communication, language and so It is necessary to use the norms of behavior correctly. In such conditions, the main goal of a foreign language is the formation of communicative ability, that is, it is required to carry out interpersonal and intercultural communication in a foreign language. For this, of course, in order to make each lesson interesting, a live, interesting organization through multimedia tools, didactic materials, and visual aids serves the effectiveness of education.

As it was determined, the foundation of English language science is manifested in the formation of speech activity skills in students. It is known that speech activity can be both written and oral. It cannot be said that only mastering oral speech is practical knowledge. The process of practical acquisition is characterized by the acquisition of all types of speech activity.[3]

A student learning a foreign language should be able to convey his thoughts clearly and fully understand the meanings. Studying the geography, literature, and history of the country where the language is being studied will also motivate you to master the language more perfectly. In this place, the lesson conducted using multimedia tools is of great importance. In addition to this, it should be noted that high results are achieved using modern educational methods during the lesson. For example, brainstorming and working in a group have a big impact on the way you work. In this case, students discuss the topic in every way and express critical opinions, which in turn helps to develop a person's ability to ask questions, speak, think logically, and develop the culture of debating. Working in a group helps the student to develop the ability to work in a group, think critically and independently, communicate and cooperate. Through the method of group work, he will have the opportunity to think at a high level, master the topic thoroughly, establish positive and friendly relations among team members, and self-management.[4]

It is worth noting that the role of lexis in learning English is more important than that of grammar. It is the lexicon that expresses the idea directly. Vocabulary, that is, allows you to imagine a word. According to experts, the fact that there are more than 500,000 words in the English language today shows that a student should constantly increase his vocabulary. For this purpose, listening to oral texts (Listening), organizing mutual dialogues and conversations between students (Speaking) helps to make English lessons meaningful and effective.[5]

Based on this, the organization of education based on modern innovative technologies means the specific conditions for achieving the effectiveness of modern education, as well as the result of pedagogical processes aimed at improving the individual's independent creative activity. This effectively affects the development of students' speech and independent thinking. Teaching foreign languages on the basis of innovative technologies greatly helps students in the formation of their professional activities. Students can learn foreign languages, including English, German, and French, closely related to their majors, through various programs such as TOEFL, IELTS, English for all, and Internet connection. Teaching foreign languages through the Internet allows people who communicate in different languages to get in touch with each other, as well as to get to know countries and people's lifestyles. In this case, communicating with a person from the country where the language is being studied will help the student to express his or her thoughts in a foreign language, to correct his mistakes, and to learn new nouns.

Conclusion:

Teaching a modern language is aimed at forming a more cultured person, who has the skills of self-analysis and systematization of new knowledge. Innovative methods are an integral part of the modernization of the entire system. This ensures that teachers can familiarize themselves with the most advanced approaches and then integrate them and use them in their work to achieve significant growth in the education system. Many organizations are moving to a new level by using multimedia capabilities to send and receive information. The use of computers and other devices determines the success of the entire educational process. Sufficient attention should be paid to the formation of speech skills and the development of social flexibility in the training conducted during the educational process. In addition, the success of each lesson in education largely depends on the correct organization of the training. The lesson should be based on the creative cooperation of the teacher and the student. Only then will students be able to think independently and will be educated.
